

They all come together for one final number, making a glorious and happy Christmas choir which belts out the last line.

This could be in front of Dan's extraordinary, dazzling light display. There's a big crowd gathering there, all singing together. We pick out the faces of our wrapping heroes, one after the other.

Chorus: It is so hard to wrap around, the box from TOUS. Becaaaause it's round.

The camera moves upwards, slowly revealing more and more people, stretching futher and further back. It's a pretty spectacular group.
